PHILADELPHIA, PA., March 16.—The remains of the late John McCullough, the actor, and those of his youngest son, who died recently, were yesterday placed in the receiving vault in the Mount Moriah Cemetery. The cemetery is on the Danily road, about two miles from this city, and the late selected for the late. this city, and the site selected for the last resting place of the distinguished actor is one of the most beautiful within the graveyard grounds. It is the intention of the friends of grounds. It is the intention of the friends of Mr. McCullough to erect a plain shaft above the grave, bearing a simple and suitable inscription. Since Mr. McCullough's death many offers of burial places were made to his widow, but she naturally preferred his remains should repose near his old home, and this determination was confirmed by the second and herecoment which firmed by the second sad bereavement which overtook the family in the death of the young-

Early yesterday afternoon Mr. James McCullough, his wife, and its-year-old daughter; Mrs. McCullough, the widow of the distinguished actor; Alfred Nutt, his faithful attendant, and a few others were driven from the McCullough residence to Falinger's Cemetery and there received the body of Wm. LABOR AND LABORERS.

Organization Temporarily Stopped by the K. of L.—"The Wheel"—Notes.

The Executive Board of the Knights of Labor has been obliged to put a stop to the organization of assemblies for forty days. Too many are crowding in, and sufficient care cannot be growing beyond the conception of its founders.

The General Executive Committee is over-burdened with work. At the present time ances and complaints from within its own nized, must be established and set to work in the nature of Knightly Courts, wherein difficulties, both internal and external, can be promptly settled, and it is proposed to establish such courts for that purpose. It is thought that there will be no difficulty found in obtaining men with level heads to do this work. They are, however, very scarce, but a sense of responsibility develope a wonderful capacity. About 100 assemblies per week are being organized. In Evansville, ind., 75 colored men were organized into the assembly from hod-carriers up. In Milford, Mass., the Knights of Labor ticket made a clean political sweep. In Hartford, Conn., the Knights were obliged to hire a music-hall to initiate 200 applicants. The overflow at the Front Street Theater of Baltimore last Sunday, to hear Travelick speak was greater than the number inside. The street are drivers of New York and the printers and shoemakers have each a district assembly of their own. New assemblies are springing up all over Ontario through the efforts of a general lecturer, who has been at work there for months. The Knights are carrying things their own way in New Orleans. At Bath, Me., the Knights ordered weekly payments. A State Assembly was organized in Kansas, with representatives from a dozen or more large cities of the State. In Perth Amboy, N. J., 10 per cent of the population is in the order. The farmers and lumbermen of Lake View have an assembly of their own. The Knights in Topeka, Kan., own their hall. The unionists of Lynn have $15,000 in bank and intend to build a hall.

A new organization has sprung up in the South called "The Wheel." It has seven planks, similar in many respects to those of other labor organizations, but more of a political complexion. The membership has grown rapidly. Its first plank demands that telegraphic and railroad lines be controlled by the Government, and that national bank corrections of the proper of the political omplexion. The membership has grown rapidly. Its first plank demands that telegraphic and ra nized, must be established and set to work in the Government, and that national bank currency be retired and that usury laws be prohibited.

A movement is on foot to have Michael Davitt, the Irish patriot, commissioned as an organizer of the Knights of Labor in Great Britain and Europe.

A scheme is being worked up to establish a co-operative colony at the terminus of the projected Topolabompo Railroad, on the Pacific coast. There are $76 stockholders, who have subscribed for 10,019 shares. When 15,000 shares are taken the colony will proceed to its destination, or such as see fit to go. Employment will be found in manufacturing, in mining and in dealing in the products of labor to be stimulated in this new section. Col. A. K. Owen, the Chief Engineer of the proposed road, is the projector, and he is wrapped up in it to the point of enthusiasm. It is a Vineland scheme on a larger scale, with a transcontinental railroad project to help it. It is called the Credit Foncier Sinaloa. It is to be a cooperative colony, where the wealth produced by labor will belong to all.

Philadelphia has more hands employed in the knit-toods industry at this time than at any other for years. The next move of organized labor will be to stop the rule of overtime in all manufactories. The rule has already been applied to the carpet trade.

Additional large works are being erected at Hites, Fa., for the manufacture of plates glass, and extensive contracts have been placed in Western Pennsylvania for steel tubular boilers, rolls, tables and all the necessary paraphernalis.

The manufacturers of window glass assert that the trade appears indifferent as to whether factories run or not. Prices, they say, are ruinously low, and imported glass can be bought in this country at about the price of home-made glass. Other branches of the American markets very closely. The Day's Developments in the Great Railroad Strike.

The Missouri Pacific Makes No Attempt to Move Freight To-day.

The Situation at the Shops, the Yards and the Union Depot-East St. Louis Switchmer Still Working-A Striker Fined-Troubl at Fort Worth, Tex.—Missouri Pacific Men at Omaha Go Out—The State of Affairs at

The strike situation locally has not underany change. The Knights are and still determined. The same assertion applies to all other points, except Fort Worth, Tex., where there some trouble; Omaha, where men on the Nebraska division of the Missouri Pacific went out to-day, and Marshall, Tex., where the thirty or forty men imported from New Orleans joined the because as they said they had been deceived by the railroad company.

There was no change in the situation at the Missouri Pacific yards this morning. The same crowd gathered. The same quiet prevailed. crowd gathered. The same quiet prevailed. The men are confident and sympathy remains with them on the part of the engineers and firemen, as a proof of which the enactment of the same old story will show. Engine No. 232 with Engineer Graham and Fireman McSorley went to the Union Depot at 7:30 to take out No. 5. When ready to start McSorley jumped to the ground and the engine came back light. When Graham was called for the run this morning at 6 o'clock, the specials in charge of the crossing not knowing him, obeyed orders and refused to allow him to pass to the shops. Graham quietly went home and a second call and a passport had to be sent to him before he would make the second attempt.

At 9:30 engine 252 backed to the Union Depot without opposition. Engineer Tom Graham, with one of Furlong's men, as fireman, formed her crew. She returned in a few minutes her crew. She returned in a few minutes with the Kirkwood accommodation. There was not a solitary passenger in the coaches as they went over the Ewing avenue crossing at the rate of twenty miles an hour. At Grand avenue, where the law requires a full stop, the speed of the train was slackened to about ten miles, and she again shot ahead on ner way. A striker appealed to the Police-Sergeant in charge and asked some action in regard to the violation of the ordinances regarding the speed of trains inside the city limits. The officer said he was power-less to do more than report it, which he took memorands to do.

At the joint meeting of the representative of the Firemen's and Engineers' Brother hoods, held a few days ago at Summit Hall, it was mutually agreed that no engineer would go out without a regular fireman. This understanding has been violated by the engineers yesterday and to-day. The firemen are somewhat grieved at the course of the engineers who have failed to keep the compact, and while the difficulty is with but one or two of them, it is probable that a meeting will be held to-day to enforce good faith.

Will, if They Can.

The Missouri Pacific officials announced after noon to-day that they would attempt to run two accommodation trains from Union Depot this afternoon, one at 3:15 p. m. and the other at 6:20 p. m.

At the Depot.

at the Union Depot to-day. There is less talk about trains this morning than there has been any day yet. All other mornings' there has reight and accommodation trains on the Missouri Pacific, but not a word is said about them this morning. When Mr. Dickinson, superintendent of the Bridge and Tunnel Company and of the terminal facilities of the Missouri Pacific Road was asked if any attempt would be made to run out accommodations on the Missouri Pacific, he replied: "I don't know. We still have them on our time cards." It looked very much this morning, however, as if no attempt would be made to get out either freight or accommodation trains on that road to-day. It has been the custom to back down the Pleasant Hill accommodation for the Missouri Pacific every morning about 70 clock, and then after waiting for an engine for a couple of hours to side-traok the train. This morning the train was not even backed down. The Bridge and Funnel Company succeeded in getting two freight trains across the river yesterday afternoon without any interferance on the part of the strikers, and expect to get more freight over to-day. The men in the employ of this company had no grievance and merely went on a strike when ordered to do so by the Rnights of Labor in order to block all movement of freight on this side of the river.

In East St. Louis. Local representatives of roads terminating & East St. Louis stated to-day that they were disposed to look upon the demand of Assembly 98 of East St. Louis for an increase in the disposed to look upon the demand or Assembly 9s of East St. Louis for an increase in the wages of switchmen employed at the East St. Louis yards as an unwarrantable interference by the Knighte of Labor with business which does not concern them. The railroad people say they do not care to take any action in the matter which in any manner would recognize the right of the Knights of Labor, as an organisation, to represent or look after the interests of their employes. As individuals and employes, the roads are all willing and even anxious to arbitrate with their men, and to consider any grievances which they may have. Up to yesterday moraing when the circulars of the Knights of Labor were received, the companies had no intimation of the existing dissatisfaction among their employees and the demand was in the nature of a great surprise to them. An increase of wages to the Chicago standard was decided upon by the agents and superintendents of the different roads some time ago, but for some unexplained reason was never carried out. This morning the Louisvillie & Nashville, Chicago & Aiton and the Belt Line determined to take long deferred action in the matter and advanced the scale of wages to the Chicago standard, as demanded in the circular letter of Assembly 98, as follows: Night foreman, 32,75, and day helpers $2.56 and 80 cents per hour for over-time. The other roads took no definite action this morning, preferring to swat the result of a general conference of superintendents and general freight agents, which was held at the office of General Managor G. W. Parker of the Cairo Short Line, at 20 clock this afternoon.

Mr. O. F. Resegne, Superintendents and spent the greater part of the day in the East St. Louis difficulty. He thought that most of the roads were willing to acceed to the request for an increase in the wages of the switchmen, but doubted if they would treat with the Knights of Labor. Freight Agent with the Knights of Labor. Freight Agent wages of switchmen employed at the East St.

streets on W. W. Stanton, who was nilling the piace of a striking switch-tender, was up to-day before Judge Cady on a charge of disturbing the peace. Stanton said that he did not think O'Hearn had struck him, but that he had started the trouble by calling him a gray and wanting to know why he swas filling the place of a striker. Stanton's eye was badly discolored when he appeared in court. A fine of $5 and costs was assessed O'Hearn.

An Important Statement. The merchants of St. Louis publish a statement on the fifth page of the Post-Disparch correcting a false impression which the representatives of other cities have sought to spread to the effect that St. Louis merchants are unable to deliver goods at present where the merchants of other cities can deliver. This statement is conclusive on this point. The only territory from which St. Louis is cut off is that embraced in the local points covered by the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain. These points belong exclusively to the Gould system and cannot be reached by any other roads. The territory covered by other roads is just as accessible to St. Louis as to other cities, and shipments are made daily by river and rail which reach all places that can be reached by merchants elsewhere. The territory cut off by the Southwestern system is inaccessible to all, and the local merchants have no difficulty in shipping elsewhere. They declare themselves ready to fill orders outside of this blockaded territory.

It is stated on authority too good to doubt, Trainmaster H. C. Clark to become one freight train. The men declined the money Other efforts just as great are being made by the company to secure men, but without suc

MARSHALL, Tex., March 16.—Your correspondent has just returned from a tour through the yards and shops. Master Mechanic Watts says that six men answered to the roll-call, mostly laborers. In the black smith, machine and wood shops no me-A Change for the Better.

The situation of the strike at Carondelet has changed since yesterday. The Missouri Pacific's transfer boats are now running, shipping car-loads of grain and merchandiss. There is no immediate the mechanics and machines brought up from here to the Illinois side, and in return bringing coal and fuel. There is no immediate danger of a coal famine now, as there are nearly 200 car-loads of it at the merchants' disposal. New freight hands are shifting cars. A few of the strikers can be seen loitering at the depot and the various corners and seen to be determined to stay out until the company yields. No freight trains left here to day.

The Bridge and Tunnel Company succeeded in getting out two trains of rubbish, which was taken across the river to be dumped there. The strikers acquiesced in the running of rubbish trains.

Meeting This Afternoon.

A meeting of the Gould system was present, was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the office of General Manager Geo. Parker of the Cairo Short Line, and is still in session.

Started from Taylor. The passenger train, which was pusted in the freight, was boarded by a number of suspicious looking men, and it was thought they were strikers who proposed to overtake the freight and stop register on the different road stop with a post-proposed to the depot with about forty men, but when the passenger arrived it was learned that the strikers had been acceded to by the Louis. The Sheriff and police officers here were notified and they renaired to the depot with about forty men, but when the passenger arrived it was learned that the strikers had been acceded to by the Louis. Sunday aight there was a christening at Bryan Connell', west of the Three-Mile House, on the St. Charles Rock road. Pat Holmes, the St. Charles Rock road. Pat Holmes, a young Irishman, was present and they were all admiring the baby when Richard Galvin and a companion came in and became so boisterous that they were put out. They returned, and in a fight that ensued Galvin cut Holmes in the left side with a knife. To-day Holmes called at the Dispensary and Dr. Dorsett found peritonitis had set in and the man was in danger of death. He at once was taken to the Four Courts, where he swore out a warrant against Galvin for assault with intent to kill. Galvin resides on Easton avenue, west of Grand. Both Galvin and Holmes are under age.

The latest deal in the gas game which has been played with so much vigor by the St. Louis companies contemplates the practical consolidation of the Water Gas, St. Louis and Carondelet companies. Negotiations are now pending between the officers of these three companies looking to the combination of their several businesses and interests under one head and management. All heretofore have been open to serious objections legally and otherwise, and the plan which finally seems to meet the views of the representatives of the different corporations is a consolidation of the different corporations is a consolidation not through the corporate bodies, but through the individual stockholders. The idea which was broached almost mutually in conferences between the officials has a warm advocate in Mr. Dwight Tredway, President of the Water-Gas Company, and he is engaged in furthering the object in view as energetically as possible. The plan which has not been suggested but which has not been suggested, but which has not yet been thoroughly perfected, is to create a

"Some four years ago," said Mr. Dooley to a to be troubled while at my work with sudden and terrible pains in my stomach. I was at a to be troubled while at my work with sudden and terrible pains in my stomach. I was at a loss to account for them, as I had always been an unusually healthy man. They passed away after a week or more, but in a short time they returned, worse than ever. I went to a doctor and he told me that I had dyspepsis, and treated me for it. A few weeks passed and I had another attack, worse than I had had before. I went to another doctor and he told me I was billious and probably had a tape worm. His treatment seemed to be all right until another attack came on, more painful and of longer duration than any that had proceeded it. The doctor who was treating me said that he guessed my trouble was due to smoking, and advised me not to use any more tobacco. But for all this the pains in my stomach grew more frequent and became more terrible. I went from doctor to doctor and obtained treatment from mea who had been considered at the head of the profession in St. Louis. My doctor's bill amounted to nearly $700. It was during last October that I went to see Dr. McCoy. He listened to my symptoms, asked me some questions about my business and then told me that my trouble was lead poisoning. It seems that in handling metals the sorapings from lead, sinc, copper and other metals had had been gradually and for years inhaling and absorbing lead from them. I commenced taking Dr. McCoy's medicines and in six weeks he told me that the effects of the lead poisoning had been driven out of my system, and that I would have no return of the trouble. Three months have passed and there has been an engles of my old trouble, and I know that I am completely cured of it."

THE STREET CAR PRESIDENTS' VIEWS ON THE TWELVE-HOUR LAW.

Charles Green Adopts It and Can't See Why Others Should Not – Messrs. Scullin and Chapman Opposed to It – A Rumored Strike.

There have been rumors that the employes of the street car companies have expressed a desire for the establishment on all the lines in the city a regular running day of twelve hours' work with $2 per day for conductors and $1.75 for drivers. To see how this plan was regarded by the railway officials themselves a Post-Dispatch reporter called on several presidents to-day.

IT'S REALLY LAUGHABLE

To full-grown people who look beneath the bubbly surface of things to see so much senseless twaddle and altitudinous blowing that some of the leading (?) retail houses of St. Louis indulge in. Such aimless and bombastic announcements, together with lots of TAFFY, LASSES CANDY and other liberal (?) gifts may allure some, but the widely known and highly respected firm of Browning, King & Co. don't stoop to such shallow and unbusiness-like schemes.

Reader, do you believe the ordinary retailer, who pays the MANUFACTURER'S PROFIT, can name as LOW PRICES as the merchant who makes the goods he sells? Of course you don't. Browning, King & Co. of New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and St. Louis, are the largest manufacturers and retailers of clothing in the United States; their materials are bought intelligently—knowingly (sometimes they scoop up the entire stock of a mill, where the goods are right and the styles desirable); their patterns are hewn out by the "Prince of Designers" (that's what they call him), and their clothing is made right, fits right, IS RIGHT—EVERY WAY, as hundreds of thousands will attest throughout the States and beyond.

THE LATEST COLORS AND SHAPES IN PRICES WERE NEVER SO LOW! ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Gentlemen who intend to "Turn Out" on St. Patrick's Day or participate in the festivities of the evening are respectfully informed that we have clothing that'll fit both their forms and pockets.

PRICE'S ARE DOWN!—WAY DOWN HERE!

We are daily receiving choice novelties which we control that nobody else can get. Another year we're done with them, and then the rest of the clothiers are welcome to them, and glad to get 'em many of them'll be, too. MERIT should and generally does win, for it is stronger than prejudice, overcomes ignorance and carries with it "A Power That's Irresistible."

When they complain of discriminations or exorbitant rates, it is "with bated breath and words of whispering humbleness. GOULD'S ULTIMATUM.

Mr. Gould's Florida proclamation, de clining to treat with the Knights of Labor as an organization, places him and his side of the pending contest in an attitude which cannot command the approbation or sympathy of the public.

The history of Mr. Gould's own roads has shown that trade organizations tend o elevate labor and to improve the relations of employer and employe for their mutual benefit. Until the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was formed, strikes of engineers were among the most fre quent and serious troubles of railroad management. Since it extorted the recognition which should have been gladly ecorded to it from the beginning, the ailroads have had better and safer service than ever before, and less trouble in ecuring it and in adjusting all questions with that class of their employes. The existence of this much respected organization gives railroad travelers a sense of ecurity they could not have without it.

Typographical unions have made strikes nuch rarer and provided a means by which publishers can employ large bodies of printers and get the most satisfactory service from them with the least friction. And similar results have followed trade organizations in every industrial calling. They weed out unworthy members, elevate the average of the craft, and govern the whole with the aggregate wisdom, restraining individual impulses by collective counsel and evolving the patience and dignity of action which go with deliberation and a proper sense of responsibility. In this respect labor organizations are the natural outgrowth of our free institutions, and are operated by the same springs of action, the same ideas of self-help and

But whatever may be their inherent faults or tendencies to err, the time has come when we must deal with them as a great and well-established de facto power in the land-a power which the railroads are not free to make war upon by the more than the strike. The truth is that "lock-out" method, or by ceasing to render the public service for which they are chartered. The private citizen or corporation may refuse to treat with any of railroads is given which are still in op- trade organization-may suspend business operations and lock out his operative because it is a mere question of individual profit and loss, which he has a right to ies rather more than St. Louis, because she decide for himself. But a quasi-public corporation suspends at the cost of the public and in violation of a contract when it voluntarily suspends operations. The St. Louis as readily and as cheaply as notoriously so strong and growing so fast that in order to secure a slower and healthier growth it has actually given notice them from St. Louis are simply cut off by that no more new assemblies will be orthe strike so that they cannot get them ganized for some months. It has ordered out 15,000 of Mr. Geuld's employes and stopped every wheel on his roads that it chose to stop. When he declines to recognize such an organization of labor as this and declines to treat with its members as such, he is simply refusing to do as a public servant or agent what the public has paid him millions to do; he is declaring a war of capital against labor does in regard to the civil service, Mr. Cleveland is sincere and not hypocritical. At the same time he has appointed and is constantly appointing Democrats, and especially Cleveland Democrats, in place of Republicans, who, except for their politics, have been competent officials. The President has to yield often to old custom and party demand, and so, while perfectly sincere in his own opinions, he yet adopts a mixed method in regard to the offices. He yields too much to the civil service Reformers to be approved by the Democracy, and too much to the Democracy to be regarded in his political conduct as entirely agenuine civil-service reformer. That he has meant to be such, nobody doubts. That he is not, is matter for serious thought for the Mugwumps. There is some opportunity for him to steer his course entirely, and not partially, by party wishes and necossities. Whatever else he does he would at least be more consistent if he should lay down and follow a straight and unvarying course, one way or the other."

The successor of Mr. Eaton, it is reported, will be Mr. Lyman, the present Chief Examiner, who is a man of experience."

the present Chief Examiner, who is a man of experience."

THE TRIBUNE.

The Tribune says: "There is an elasticity about the civil-service law in Democratic hands compared with which India rubber is as unbending as steel. A striking illustration of this curious fact is furnished in the case of B. T. Doyle, just appointed to a place in the Treasury Department by Mr. Manning. Under civil-service rules Doyle should have served six months on probation in the grade he was appointed; but thanks to the influence of the Democratic Senators from Tennessee, the Secretary, within a few days after Doyle's appointment, became convinced of his superior merit and promoted him two grades over the heads of old employes. That was worth $600 a year to the lucky clerk. The Civil Service Commissioner will doubtless look into the matter, if only for the sake of appearances."

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM. Does the School-Marm Chew Gum?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch. The course of discipline in the fairly severe from a circumstance recently sed to me. My little girl attends school, disclosed to me. My little girl attends school, and her teacher has enjoined her under pain of corporeal punishment from masticating chewing gum. To this I have no ground for complaint, but when Miss B. herself is indulging continually in the chewing of her cud I simply consider my little girl should not be forced to obey, through fear of punishment, what her reason concludes is unfair. Teachers can easily influence their pupils by example for good or evil, and, while I consider chewing of gum a childish habit, I look upon consistency in a teacher as a most essential requisite. Miss B. was spoken to about the matter, but laughed at the matter as a huge joke. I think it was silly to do so.

FANNY DAVENPORT'S GRAPHIC PICTURING OF REVENGE, LOVE AND REMORSE.

The Performance at the Olympic Last Night —The Realistic Horror of Fedora's Death—

nics. It is powder and fire brought together.
Its passions have been taken from flaming regrowths, nurtured by luxury, enriched by high spices and rich wines, inflamed into let colors by artificial heat. Our civil let colors by artificial heat. Our civilization could not produce what Sardou has pictured. He has grasped with marvelous skill what may be called the champagne and terrapin flavor of the high life of a race in whose civilization is the strong tincture of barbarism, whose passions are irresistible impulses, and to whom lack of excitement is living death. It is only in such an atmosphere that the changing passions, lurid in their intensity, and the powerfully dramatic situations which deals with violent death as one of the common experiences of life, could be created.

And yet with all the demands of Fedora, a woman instinct with passions and capable of actions which would never enter the calm heart of the average maid or matron, there is found an exponent for herevery moodwho rises easily to the high pitch of the emotions, and who nils every demand without visible effort, with quiet superiority that proves her mistress of the most intense situation. It is not sufficient to sound the depths and measure the heights of life on its mean plane, but there must have been a glance and touch of those heights and depths of experiences which are barred from quiet respectability. The fasoination of the superb woman endowed richly with the gifts of mind and body, the love and hate of which only high-strung, powerful organizations are capable, and the determined, desperate action which requires the masterful mind, are the endowments of Fanny Davenport.

perace action which requires the masterium mind, are the endowments of Fanny Davenport.

At the beginning, in the presence of a mystery which demands solution, she is the moving spirit, rapid in thought, quick and determined in conclusion and action. The barbaric spirit of revenge is personified in her quivering figure and flashing eyes. Then comes the search, the eager, straining effort of the woman inflamed by hate to entrap her victim. Every resource is called into requisition. While she begins to feel the mastery of another nature, yet one passion is dominant. She shudders while she caresses. Her heaving bosom and panting breath speak of love, but the light in the eye tells of hate. The soft, stealthy, fascinating method of the panther which fawns that it way better strike is in every movement. The glitter of the tempting devil is in her eyes, and when the victim is in her power the triumph of hate is embodied in her sinster joy.

Again, when lured into the trap, Loris tells the story of his crime, the intense interest, the gradual diversion of revenge from Loris to the dead Viadimir, the dormant love for the strong nature which has unconsciously satisfied her own revenge, with whom, for the time in the narrasion of his orime, she lives and breathes in harmony, bursts into a torrent of passionate love, and to keep him from his fate resorts to arts that make men tremblé and bring blushes to the faces of innocenne. This is a passion which dares all, stoops to everything, forgets every consideration, to save its object and to right a wrong. The woman is a figure of impassioned love, and to keep him from his fate resorts to arts that make men tremblé and bring blushes to the faces of innocenne. This is a passion which dares all, stoops to everything, forgets every consideration, to save its object and to right a wrong. "The Mikado," presented by a company of remarkably clever children, made Entertainment Hall last evening a most attractive resort and drew out a fine audience. The delightful work of Glibert and Sullivan acquired an added charm by the unexpected brightness and the naivette of a juvenile company. The scenery was picturesque and beausiful, the costumes were rich and striking and the performance is one which cannot fail to be enjoyed by old and young. A popular price matinee will be given to-morrow and Saturday afternoons.

THE CIVIL COURTS.

Daniel Manchan's Domestic Story-Ot Curiosities of Divorce. Circuit Court to-day praying for a decree of divorce from Eliza Manchan. They were married September 25, 1884, and lived together until March 8th of the present year. Mr. Manchan alleges that his wife abused him in every way and made use of bad lauguage, in sulting him in the presence of oth and doing everything to humiliate and an and doing everything to humiliate and annoy him. He also alleges that she manifested a dislike for his little daughter Mamie, by a former marriage, and acted in such a manner as to corrupt the child. He was afraid to leave the little girl in the hands of his wife while he was absent during the day at business and always feared that the child would be injured. Mis wife was in the habit of talking and singing at unseasonable hours and refusing to come to bed. She also acted, strangely at various times by absenting herself from home for days and nights at a time. On one occasion she struck her husband violently in the face, and she at length made up her mind to leave, telling her husband that the house was haunted and she would not stay there any longer. She did not stay.

A $25,000 Damage Suit.

Mrs. Bridget Lavin entereds $25,000 damage suit to-day against the People's Line, Tower Grove & Lafayette Railway Company. She states that on the 23d of December, 185, she was a passenger on one of the company's cars, intending to proceed to Fourth and Morgan streets. On the journey through the lack of skill on the part of the driver a runaway horse from a wagon collided with the side of the car, crashing in the glass and huriling the plaintiff from her seat. She was badly out and bruised with pieces of glass, and being in a delicate condition at the time, she sustained such injuries that a premature birth resulted, and she was permanently disfigured.

Ordered Her to Leave.

Mary A. Kellerman wants a decree of divorce from Frank N. Kellerman. They were married October 7, 1884, and lived together until November 19, 1885. Mrs. Kellerman alleges that her husband treated her with coldness, crueity, neglect and disrespect. She further alleges that he failed to support her, and at length ordered her to leave the house. She was compelled to go back to her parents. One child was born of the union and the mother asks for its custody and the restoration of her maiden name, Mary Butikofer.

The trial of Joseph Kelley's damage suit against Stephen O'Connor and others is set for to-day in Judge Barciay's Court before a of the defendants, who had a plastering contract at 212 N. Broadway, and the scaffoldin upon which he stood gave way. An amende answer was flied, alleging that the accident was due to contributary negligence on the part of the plaintiff.

An Incorporation.

The A. Leschen & Sons Rope Company was neorporated to-day; capital stock $50,000, all paid. The shares are held as follows: Adolph aschen 250 shares, Henry Leschen 125 shares, john A. Leschen 125 shares.

Inviations were extended to the various military elite of Jefferson City were invited to meet them. The house was very artistically draped with the national colors, interspersed with plants and blooming flowers. The word "Welcome," in large letters composed of flowers of every hue, greeted the visitor upon the first entrance to the nice, old-fashioned hall, and the entrance to the grand salon was beautifully festooned with flags, from the center of which were suspended the letters, C. H. G. C., in compliwent to the Chillicothe Cleveland and Hendricks Gles Club. The throngs of elegantly dressed ladies, and handsomely uniformed soldier-boys presented a beautiful picture as they promenaded the halls, or in groups conversed gaily together. The Governor was assisted in his duties as host by his neice, Miss Iola Harwood, a lady of distinguished and commanding presence and unusually bright and versatile in talent, well fitted for her position as hostess in her uncie's house.

Mrs. D. W. Marmaduke, who also assisted in the entertainment of the guests, was well known throughout the South as one of the beautiful Crawford sisters of Mobile; the other sister was married to Mr. Leslie Marmaduke. Miss Lulu Niekerson, a beautiful Jefferson City belie, had her hands full in looking after the pleasure of the young warriors bold who were entrusted to her care. The Cleveland and Hendricks Glee Club of Chillicothe gave a very choice selection of songs during the evening, which was highly appropriate. Simple but abundant and substantial refreshments were served throughout the entire evening. A large party of St. Louisans was made up last week to attend. Capt. Boteler-McCrary Wedding. , The Boteler-McCrary nuptials, which took place in St. Joseph last Thursday evening, the society circles of this city, but of St. Louis as well. Miss Kate McCrary, daughter of Judge C. W. McCrary of the Federal Court was married on that evening to Dr. W. C. Boteler, a prominent physician of St. Joseph, Mo. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, on Troost avenue, the Rev. Robert Laird Collier officiating. The house was brilliantly lighted, and superbly decorated with flowers, the large bay window in the salon being converted into bower, from which a floral umbrella, composed of different colored roses was suspended, the bridal couple standing beneath it while their vows were solemnized. The bride wore an elegant bridal robe of heavy white satin duchess, with long court train, over a pettleoat covered with flounces of fine duchess lace, and caught en cascade with bunches of orange blossoms, the same bridal flower ornamenting the square cut sleveless corsage. Her veil of tulle was worn with pearl pins, clusters of orange flowers composing it in poufs upon the train. In her hand she carried a large, loose bunch of pure white roses and Roman hyacinths. Miss Nellie McCrary, the first bridemaid, wore a pretty and simple tollette of white muil. Miss Jennie cinths. Miss belie accuracy, the first oride-maid, work a pretty and simple tollette of white muli. Miss Jennie McClellan's dress was of white satin duchess, made very plain, but rich and elegant. Miss Ridenour of Kansas City also wore a very handsome dress of white satin. Dr. and Mrs. Boteler left on Friday morning for the Pacific coast, where they will spend a month or six weeks.

A very stylish turnout made its appearance in Forest Park yesterday afternoon. The thoroughbreds attached to the carriage were driven tandem The occupants were a belie from the East and a pretty, petite St. Louis girl, accompanied by two brothers, sons of a prominent wholesale merchant of this city.

The first witness was Charles Graham, the 13-year-old son of Geo. E. Graham. In his evi-The hist witness was chartes or damain, the isyear-old son of Geo. E. Graham. In his evidence he stated that while living at Elgin, Ill., his father nearly every night went to see Mrs. Mailoy, remaining until 10 and 11 o'clock. "Do you know what he went there for?" Mr. Traverse made strenuous objections for the defense to the admission of this kind of testimony, and said that his clients were on trial for murder, and such testimony was only for the purpose of biackening the character of Mrs. Mailoy and Cora Lee, and had no bearing upon the present case. He made a passionate appeal for his clients, that their characters be not further traduced, which brought the ever-ready tears to Mrs. Mailoy's eyes. In answer the prosecution stated they desired to show adultery between Geo. E. Graham, Emma Mailoy and Cora Lee, and showed their criminal relations which would prove a motive for destroying the legal wife. The defense, in answer, said the question of character was one which had to be met sooner or later, and they would meet it now. They did not propose that the characters of their clients should be dragged into question; that their characters had already been traduced by a villainous press, for which it would have to answer.

THE OREGON DISASTER.

Passengers of the Ill-Fated Steamer File Claims Against the Company. NEW YORK, March 16.—Efforts to discover me clue to the identity of the schooner that ran the Oregon down have so far proved una-vailing. It is thought she was a three-masted vessel and carried a crew of about nine persons. She was probably loaded with coal, and is thought to have been bound from Baltimore or Philadelphia for New York. One of the pe-culiar things about the disaster, that is gradually becoming prominent, is the fact that the more clear and connected stories of the affair than the men do. The officers of the vessel agree in the statement that they had much less the women than of the men.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The committee of the Oregon's passengers appointed at yesterday's meeting to take steps to recover the value of their property, called at the Cunard Line office this morning and left a statement of their grievances. The diver who visited the wreck yesterday found one bale of cotton and one case of dry goods. The Merritt Coast Wrecking Company will make a report in regard to raising the wreck of the Oregon, but as she lies in 120 feet of water it is hardly thought probable that the steamer will be raised. The cargo, engines and the valuable parts of the vessel, however, will be brought to the sur-

New York, March 16.—Among the guests at the Astor House are Mrs. C. E. Waller and C. the Oregon when the vessel was in mid-ocean. Mrs. Waller is nearly prostrated, added to which is the total loss of her family effects. Her son told of their experiences:

"Father was the vicar of the comfortable living of Humbertstone, in England, and having been troubled for some time with an affection of the heart, we all decided to make the fourney to America and thence southwardly to Mexico or Florida, in hopes of restoring his shattered health. It was a little before noon on last Tuesday, while my mother and I were in our state-room, that my father fell overboard. He had left us but a few moments and his death was a terrible shock. He had been suffering from nervous prostration for some days. The sea was running very strong at the time, and

THE CABINET CRISIS.

CHAMBERLAIN PLACES HIS RESIGNATION IN GLADSTONE'S HANDS.

Strenuous Opposition of Chamberlain and Trevelyan to the Premier's Irish Measure—Outlines of the Scheme—Parnell Very III—The German Anti-Socialistic Law—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.
London, March 16.—I regret to have been misled yesterday about the Cabinet crisis. My dispatch throwing doubt upon Chamberlain's resignation, was based upon what Chamberlain himself had said recently to an Irish member. To-day, on the contrary, I learn, on the best authority, that Chamberlain's resignation is probably a question of a few hours; indeed, although my informant does not say so, I believe that he has already definitely resigned. At any rate, he has certainly threatened an immediate resignation. Gladstone is considering how best to present his schemes so as to preserve the consession of the Cabinet. Gladstone's scheme,

Mr. Trevelyan, Secretary for Scotland, have placed their resignations in the hands of Mr. Gladstone. The Premier has, however, decilined to accept them. His answer to the tender of them was a conciliatory one. He suggested to both gentlemen that they defer final decision on the resignations until after a personal discussion of the question at issue between them and him. To this both have assented. It is now known that the subject of dispute between the Prime Minister and Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Trevelyan is Mr. Gladstone's Irish expropriation scheme. The exact sum which will be required to buy out all the landowners of the country, according to the Premier's plan, is $130,000,000. The proposition to increase the public debt of Great Britain that much, in order to purchase peace in Ireland, is claimed by the Radical leaders in the Cabinet to be asking far too muchfor what will be obtained. There was to have been a special meeting of the Cabinet to-day. It has, however, been postponed for the purpose of giving the resigning ministers time for reflection in the hope that both will change their minds. Their personal friends declare that neither Mr. Chamberlain nor Mr. Trevelyan will alter his purpose of refusing to participate in a Government which is to be responsible for Mr. Gladstone's Irish land scheme.

CHATTED WITH GLADSTONE.

Both Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Trevelyan were in their usual places in the House of Commons to-day and chatted with Mr. Gladstone.

JUDGE WILLIAM L. TRENHOLM APPOINTED COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16.—Just after the Senate had adjourned yesterday, and Washington, D. C., March 16.—Just after the Senate had adjourned yesterday, and while most of the Senators were still in their seats, a white halred crank came down to the front of the gentlemen's gallery, and addressing the chair in Senatorial terms, said he would "askleave at this time to introduce a petition" which he produced from the inner pocket of his coat. "Grandfather" Hassett, the captain of the pages, ran out into the center alsie and waved his long, right arm warningly at the introduce, but without effect. Then some one called upon the doorkeepers, and two of them, with only two arms between them, ran into the gallery, but stranger was too able-bodied for them. Finally the crank, becoming disgusted at the failure of the Chair to recognize him, jammed his hat on the back of his head and went out. In justice to the doorkeepers, it should be said that there is one among them who is sound in a wind and mind, but yesterday was his day off.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Messrs.

Mills of Texas, Maybury of Michigan and Hisoock of New York, sub-committee of the Ways and Means Committee, have reported in favor of abrogating the Hawalian treaty. This action was predicted in the Post-Dispatch. There is no doubt that the full Ways and Means Committee will adopt the recommendation of the sub-committee. The abrogation of the treaty with the Hawalian listands is a blow at Claus Spreckles and his sugar monopoly. The planters of Louisiana and the refiners of New York have for years been fighting this sugar king.

The Grant Funeral Bill. Washington, D. Spanis and Harmony streets, owned by C. Fuerth. The fire commenced in the middle room of the first floor, that was occupied as a wareroom for farm machinery, and is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, as no one had been in there for a week. The upper floor is occupied by Dr. A. List as a dental office and residence, and his loss is about $200 by water and breekage; no insurance. The damage to the house is about $200, covered by $2,000 insurance in the Franklyn Muthal of St. Louis. Loss on machinery, $300, with $1,000 insurance in the Springfield of Massachusetts and the Western of Toronto, Canada.

SHELBYVILLE, I.L., March 16.—Rev. Edward Carleton, who has been the subject of so much comment in the papers and so much criticism in the Mattoon Presbytery, was this afternoon interviewed by your correspondent, to whom he gave a synopsis of the story of his life, which he will deliver at the Christian Church this evening. His real name is Johnathan Edward Bell. He was born in England in 1841. Shortly before his father, who was a Baptist minister, removed to the United States, young Beil was educated for the ministry and graduated with honors at the ministry and graduated with honors at the manuel of the ministry and graduated with honors at the manuel of the states of the ministry and graduated with honors at the same teach he was ordained by Bishop Little-john in New London, Conn., as pastor of the First Raptist Church, where he gained 120 members in a single year. He afterward preached in Providence, Winchendon, Mass., and Philadelphia, meeting with unusual success. In 1870 he was called to the South Congregational church at Reading, Mass. Here a Presbyterian church was organized to which he was called as pastor. The same year he was married in Brooklyn to a daughter of Hon. G. N. Carleton, a well-known Wall Street broker. After the Meeter New York but in every case le was followed by letters from disaffected members of the First Baptist church in New London, who had sworn eternal enmity against him, making his fife unbearable and his pastorates short, until inally, in order to escape persection, he suddenly changed his Ware opened the second round with another sharp right hander. Cranston resisted Ware's victous onslaughts as best he could for sixty seconds longer, and then crashed to the floor under a clean shoulder hit from the same right hand, regaining his feet just in time to be knocked bleeding and senseless into Ware's corner. He fell with his hands and arms resting upon his opponent's chair, and, although his friends called out to him in earnest tones and mouth. The time-keeper called "time" at the end of ten seeonds, and the referee awarded the fight to Ware. The time of the entire battle during which the men were fighting was but four minutes and fifty seconds.
